PREPARE

The aviation industry increasingly demands high levels of skills, training and knowledge. AMAC confronts this challenge by developing and investing in high quality education, workforce development, and by mentoring a new generation of leaders.

A photograph showing a stream of water flowing out of a dark, cylindrical pipe into a field of tall, green grass. The water is in motion, creating a white, frothy trail as it falls. The grass is dense and vibrant green, surrounding the pipe and the falling water. The overall scene suggests a natural or agricultural setting.
